The search engine functionalities are adapted to the specific needs of academic or public libraries and their users, and are designed to fully satisfy your individual needs.

Europresse is easy to use and its price is highly competitive. Europresse for academic or public libraries has much to offer—we invite you to explore its many features.
3 types of accounts

A subscription to Europresse for academic or public libraries includes three types of accounts

For users: a user-friendly, ergonomic tool!
A user account for quickly finding relevant information
Europresse for academic or public libraries has an intuitive interface and provides the most precise information possible:
- Access documents in the blink of an eye thanks to a powerful search engine and a user-friendly interface
- Pinpoint pertinent documents with our search by relevance. Or search by date or source
- Display articles’ full text in full screen
- Store documents in a temporary folder and save them as HTML or PDF file
The user account provides two search levels, simple and advanced:
- Simple: allows a quick, Google-type search
- Advanced: uses Boolean operators and search keys
The user account also allows you to search by related concepts. Users can access contextual help at any time. The search interface is available in English and French.

For library staff: a large number of high performance functionalities!
An account that allows librarians to better serve library users
In addition to all the basic functionalities available with the user account, the professional account for librarians boasts a third search level.
Some of the added advantages of a librarian account allow you to:
- Save searches
- Create an alert with e-mail notification and store documents in a permanent folder (additional alerts and folders in option)
- Modify your personal preferences
- Create customized search domains according to your needs

For administrators: effective management tools!
An administrator account to better supervise users
Advanced tools help you monitor and optimize how your library users benefit from the service. An administrator account allows you to:
- Manage cookies at public terminals and ensure secure access through HTTP-ref or IP address
- Create source groups for all accounts
- Manage preferences for all accounts
- Activate printing for user accounts
- Provide user oversight via specific analysis reports (number of sessions, searches, documents consulted, documents printed, etc.). Usage statistics follow the Level 1 COUNTER standard.

A large selection of news and business sources!

A media search engine can be measured by the quality and relevance of the content to which it provides access.

Europresse for academic or public libraries features a repertory of thousands of recognized sources, including numerous exclusive titles. Our archives contain over 100 million articles covering more than 25 years, enhanced by tens of thousands of articles daily. Documents updates are performed seven days a week.

Available media sources publish French and international news in English and French. In France, a wide selection of sources covers national and regional news:
- Trade journals
- Dailies and magazines
- Specialized economics, finance, and environmental publications
- Websites
- News wires, etc.

You can consult documents in PDF format as they appear in the original publication including computer graphic, tables and graphs.

New sources are added regularly depending on their relevance and interest in order to provide a diversity of perspectives. For a complete list of available sources, consult the Content section of the website, www.europresse.com.

Flexible fee scales for complete peace of mind!

Adapted to your library's budget and technical environment, as well as to the content you wish to make available to your users, Europresse for academic or public libraries is the ideal solution for information retrieval.
- Fixed annual fees are tailored to your needs and budget.
- The feescale is adapted to the type of teaching institution or size of the community served as well as the desired number of simultaneous sessions.
- Additional volume discounts are available to groups and consortiums.
